SWOT Analysis:

Strengths:

- Our development environments were set up well.
- We clearly communicated our availability, and divided tasks fairly throughout the process.
- Members are capable of learning and applying HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.

Weaknesses:

- The planning step and adjustment to begin programming as a team was time-inefficient
- We saw conflicts with Git branching and merging, which led to some chaos and disorganization.
- We still need to better the foundational skills needed for WebDev.

Opportunities:

- There is a lot of room for promising growth in individual coding skills as well as documentation.
- Our cohesion and workflow seem to improve as we adjust.
- Further chances to explore and apply new tech tools.

Threats:

- Our development process may be very inefficient with continuous merge conflicts or even file loss.

- Again, we still need to develop our coding skills in HTML, CSS and JS to keep up with potentially more complex requirements of the project.
